

L. STRANGMAN

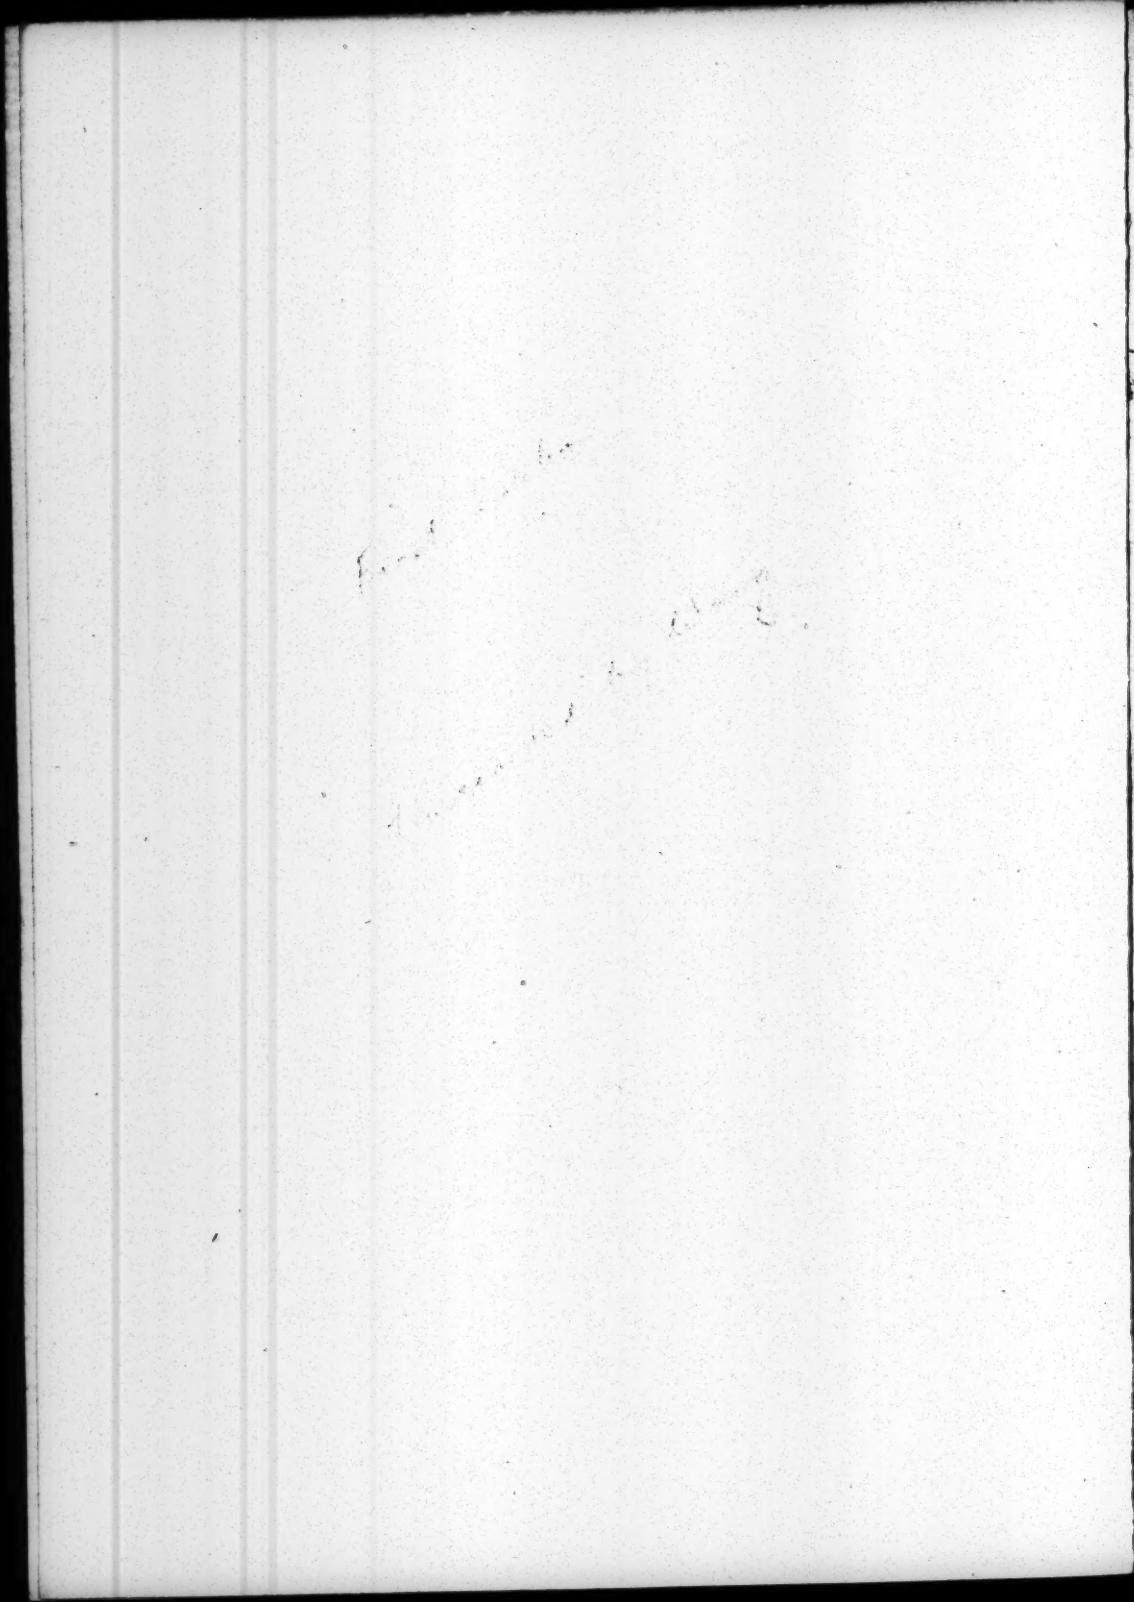

L. STRANGMAN

THE NATIVITY
O F
Mr. Will. Lilly

Astrologically performed;
Shewing how he hath lived, and what
Death he may probably die.

For the Satisfaction of Astrologers and others.

Published to the world by James Blackwel, Student in Astrology and Physick.

Qui artem aliquam destruit, tunc & deterior est imperio, nec vacat eum mens illius malitia, desidia, & ignorantia. Cardan. Seg. 3.
Aphor. 146.

He that destroys any Art, is far worse than he that is unskilful; for his minde is empty neither of malice, deceit, or ignorance.

L O N D O N :

Printed by Tho. Johnson, at the White Cock in Rood-lane. 1660.

To the Honest Reader.

Courteous Reader,

I Here present unto thy view, and friendly acceptance, the Nativity of Mr. William Lilly, he might I confess, have saved me the pains, (and for the honor of Astrology) publisht it himself. The Learned Cardan thought it not unbecoming an Artist to publish his own Nativity; but Mr. Lilly I perceive had much rather Phillipize than Cardonize, (i.e.) flatter, and play fast and loose with others, than deal plainly with himself. And I finding him so negligent and tardy in this wherein he might have redeemed Astrologies honor, as much, as in clawing Dick Cromwel, and the Swedish King, he forfeited it; have for satisfaction of the world, and promotion of Art, adventured upon this somewhat troublous Task, That for one mans scandalous dealing with, and notoriously abusing of an honored Science, the Art it self might not fall to the ground. Nay, I here assert, the Syderal Science cannot receive greater dignity and renown by any thing, than by the publication of this Nativity of Lilly's, who hath pretended himself, though falsely, the Stars chiefeſt Ambassador. Had not Lilly set Astrology upon the Tenters, and wrack'd and tortured it ſo cruelly as he hath done, to the defacing the Credit of the Stars, and those that ſtudy them alſo. I ſhould not have been ſo positive with him, as in ſome things here published, I am; but if Mr. Lilly can ſo far forget his gratitude to them that have eminently honored him, I can forget my pity, and ſhall not esteem it ſo much as a venial Transgression, to retort his Ingratitude upon him, and publish what the Stars portend to him, although his gray haire and great ſpirit may ſcorn a conjunction with the ſplendid Truth thereof.

J. B.

From my Study White-chappel in Bell-yard, near the Church.

MS. A. 1. 1. v. 10. p. 2
1610. 1611. 1612. 1613. 1614.
1615. 1616. 1617. 1618. 1619.

The NATIVITY of William Lilly Artificially handled.

WILLIAM LILLY was born in Leicester-shire, at a place called Diseworth, in the Year of our Lord 1602. April 30. 14 h. 8 m. P. M. or more vulgarly at 8 m. past 2 a clock on May-day in the morning. The Elevation of the Pole-Artick above the Horizon being there $52^{\circ} 38'$. Under which Elevation to the time given and corrected, I set the Figure of heaven by the operations following.

The Planets places from the Rudolphine Tables, are thus:

Long Planets.				Latitude Planets.
h	18	28	R. m.	h	3	44	7
m	24	13	05	d	24	28	56
s	6	32	32	W	2	27	51
○	20	05	05	S	9	40	3
□	19	16	16	g	47	47	1
⊗	05	05	05
△	13	47	47
○	14	53	53

The Right Asc. ○ ————— 47 37
 R. A. Time ————— 212 00
 R. A. Med. Coel. ————— 259 37
 Adde the quadrant α ————— 90 00
 Obl. A. Horoscope ————— 349 37

The figure it self follows.

How this Nativitie was corrected and proved to be the true Geniture of William Lilly, by these several Accidents following:

1. He being aged 16 and 17 years, he lived poorly and in great want, his father so far decayed his estate, that he could not (by his own confession) send him to Cambridge, he labored then under the Ascendant to the opposition of ♀ with, and without latitude, and to the ☐ of ♁, and the terms of ♀ : ♁ then directed to the terms of ♀, and the part of Fortune to the ☐ of ♀ with latitude, and to the terms of ♀ also.

2. Aged 18 years he came to London, and was put an Apprentice to Pawlin a Taylor, and the Sun was then directed to the △ of ♀, and the Medium Caeli to the △ of ♀ : and Pars fortuna to the terms of ♀. And now William Lilly began to live indifferently well.

3. Aged 25. he married with his Mistress, the Mid-heaven was then directed to the ☐ of ♁ with and without latitude, and the Ascendant was then directed to the ☐ of ♀, who was Lord of of the seventh in his Radix, and Pars fortuna to the terms of ♀.

4. Being aged 30 years, he began to study Astrology, the Ascendant was then directed to the ♂ of ♀ with latitude, and to the Δ of ♁, and the M. C. to the * of ♀: and Pars fortuna was then directed to the * of ♀, the grand reason perhaps of its proving so gainful to him.

5. Aged 31 years, his old wife died, and he got a 1000 l. thereby. The ♁ was then directed to the □ of ♀ and □ of ♀: and pars fortuna was under the * of ♀, and directed to ♀, a certain note of wealth, and increase of fortune.

6. Being aged 32 he married again, the Mid-heaven was then directed to the Δ of ♀, and to the Δ of ♀ also; and ♁ was then directed to the terms of ♀, and pars fortuna to the Antiscion of ♁. He was then and the next year also sick of a Hypocondriack Melancholly, the Ascendant was then directed to the ♂ of ♀, and to a star of the nature of ♂: The ♁ was then directed to a □ of the ♀, and the Ascendant to the ♂ of ♀, which aptly signified the same.

7. Aged 34. he removed (at the pleasure of his wife) into Surrey to live, the Ascendant was then directed to the ♂ of ♀ with latitude.

8. He being aged 38, a violent Feaver, the Ascendant was then directed to the ♂ of ♀ with latitude, ♀ all that year in his Ascendant, and ♂ at the Revolution in that year his grand Afflitter.

9. Aged 48 years, he had many contentions with his wife, and lost 200 l. per annum by Mr. Frost's means, upon a quarrel had between him and Frost; the Medium Celi was then directed to the □ of ♀ Lord of the seventh in the Radix, and a most unfortunate revolution that year.

10. Being aged 50 years, he disgraced himself about the Solar Eclipse in 1652. the Ascendant was then directed to ♀, and ♀ to the □ of ♀, which aptly portended the same.

11. He being aged 56 and 57, he basely befool'd himself and Astrology, by flattering Oliver and Richard Cromwel, and the King of Sweden, yet he got a Gold Chain; the Ascendant to the terms of $\textcircled{5}$ and fourth house, and $\textcircled{6}$ was then directed to the $\textcircled{8}$ of $\textcircled{9}$ with latitude; but then to give him the Gold Chain he had the Mid-heaven to the Δ of $\textcircled{4}$.

12. Aged 52. he was entreated at Sessions by Emme Spencer for a Cheat: $\textcircled{6}$ was then directed to the $\textcircled{8}$ of $\textcircled{9}$ without latitude, and still under the $\textcircled{11}$ of $\textcircled{4}$, and the Ascendant was then directed to the Contraries of $\textcircled{9}$.

13. He being aged 58 years, was imprisoned for pretending to know who cut the Kings head off, but being befriended, he quickly got off again: $\textcircled{8}$ in \square to the Ascendant of the Revolution, and his part of fortune there; but he being under $\textcircled{6}$ to the \star of $\textcircled{9}$, he got his liberty in a fortnights time. Fortune seldom favors honest men at so easie and friendly a rate. Thus was this Nativity corrected.

A general Judgement of this Nativity.

I shall not be very tedious in the general Judgement of this Nativity, because it would be very painful, and unprofitable; and Lilly himself would never do anything without a reward. However, for Astrologers honor I shall remark the most eminent and considerable things therein, and that in the form following.

Here we finde \times ascending, which Lilly himself p. 99. of his Introduction, terms, A Sign double badid, idle, effeminate, and sickly, representing a party of no action. Perhaps a main reason of his juggling, and his playing fast and loose with all he hath dealt with, and of being so lazy and ignorant in the Art he pretends to, that he seldom did any thing true therein, unless he had the assistance of other men, better acquainted with the Art than himself. But to shew that William Lilly was never like to make a good Artist, or be of any admirable conception, we finde that he hath Mercury in Taurus, a dull, heavy, earthly sign, and Δ diminishing in light in another earthly sign. In his Introduction p. 584. he says, Luna diminished in light, Mercury in Taurus, signifies the Native will prove a very Ass or Wid- geon. And I remember it is nearly from the same reasons, that in his Epistle to his Almanack 1645, he confesseth his conceptions dull, and his speech and discourse, (and he might have said writings also) defective. But I cannot devise what Configuration should make Mr. Lilly drop this truth! The Moon to the quartile of Mercury cannot I am confident, though Mercury be Lord of the ninth. It is very probable, that Σ in Δ to δ might do it; for that sometimes makes the veriest Ideot ingenious. If yet a little further we enquire into this Natives manners, adhering still to his own Book, (because he shall have the less occasion to be offended) we finde in p. 538. That when the significator of Manners is in ϵ , as Ψ is in this Nativity, it denotes one inconstant, crafty, a contemner of all Arts, yet conceited of his own parts. But that I remember to have read this Aphorism in several other Authors, I should have believed that Lilly had made it from the experience he had of his own inclination and temperature; For how exactly this hits him in every part, I leave all those to judge that know him, by either his writings or actions. In p. 536. Lilly adviseth us to judge of the Natives manners more particularly thus. If there be no Planet in the Ascendant or joyn'd to the δ or Σ , or that the Lord of the Ascendant be not aspected of his Depositor, then have recourse to that Planet that forebly aspects the Δ and Σ with a partil aspect; which in this Nativity is δ and he ill dignified. And therefore by Lilly's own rule, in p. 450. signifies a person cruel, quarrelsome, and tyronical, rash and head-strong, bloody-minded, unshamefac't, sumptuous; a bragger, impious, a shedder of blood, impudent in provoking, but timorous when it comes to action, a thief, author of dissensions, tumults, sedition. And thus much of the man, and his manners and inclination.

2. Of his Riches: Venus is Lady of the second, and in page 543. he sayes, That she signifies Riches by friends and women's gifts. And that way indeed hath Lilly been somewhat enriched. And in p. 561. When a benevolent Planet is significator of Riches, and combust, the Native thrives by ind root and unlau-ful means. And Venus Lady of the second, being in exact opposition

position of h , the means should be the more indirect. All men (almost) know how Lilly hath got his estate; some by wives, but most by somewhat else; but what I will not say, let those that have a desire to know, ask the Swedes, and the Members of the Long-Parliament, Oliver Cromwell, and Richards friends, and they perhaps can inform them. If we enquire whether the estate shall continue, Lilly tells us in page 563. the Sun in the second is ill, and it is very bad when the Lord of the second is combust, and the pars fortuna infortunate, it usually portends confiscation of estate, banishment, &c. And he saith page 564. Caput Medusa, with pars fortuna, or joyned to his Lord, expresses loss of Riches, and threatens poverty; which positions exactly happen in this Nativity, and something else to aggravate them, viz. Saturn being in exact opposition to Sol and Venus; but I heat Lilly hath made over his estate already, in hopes to prevent these evils that his Nativity unhappily threatens.

3. He saith page 567. the V in the third, portends little agreement between the Native and his brethren, or kindred; And this is true enough in his Nativity, for although he hath a poor Brother in the Country, and a poor Sister a Washer-woman, in Milford-lane, he seldom gives them a penny; and besides hath passed away his estate to strangers.

4. If we enquire whether this honor shall continue, himself saith, page 623. the Hyades, Hercules cor, Scorpio, Lænx Australis, in Angles, in \square or δ of the infortunes; whom they raise from the dunghill, they at last cast down with a vengeance. In this Nativity, although these Stars are not in Angles, yet Mars casts a quartile to two of the eminentest of them, from an Angle; which is every whit as forcible, as if they had been in Angles. If two and four make six, then four and two makes the same number. Thus you see the demonstration is familiar and easie.

5. If we make enquiry after the Natives imprisonment or restraint, it is apparent he must suffer by such means: For in page 641. he saith, If h afflict O or D with paral. or platick

Aspect;

Aspect, it denotes imprisonment to the Native. Here you see Sol is most exactly opposed by Saturn, and he Lord of the twelfth, and Retrograde in the eighth house. I hope better for him, than that he die in a prison; but that I have made a promise to quote no Authority herein, but Lillyes own, I could produce divers that relate such a position to be most cruel and ominous.

6. Having treated of the most material passages of Life, we come now to treat of Death; And shall question first, whether it may be natural, or violent? In page 644. Lilly saith, If either the Sun or Moon be in violent signs, and the other Light with a violent fixed star, it denotes a violent Death, chiefly if any of the infortunes invest either Sun or Moon, or Lord of the eighth. This Aphorism takes full place in this Nativiry, for the Moon is in Capricorn, and the Sun with Oculis Taurus, in opposition of Saturn; Ergo, it stands the Native upon, to beware of a violent end. In page 645. he saith, A malevolent in the eighth, and either of the Lights afflicted, or in a violent sign, portends violent death. He saith also, The Lord of the first in a violent sign, and the depositor of the Light of the time in a violent sign, or afflicted, intreats violent death. The Lord of the first, is in ω , a sign violent, and his disposer of the δ is in m , a sign violent; Ergo, the dict of the Aphorism is to be feared. The kinde or quality of death is known from Saturn, because he is in the eighth, thence afflicting the Sun, the Fountain of Life. And the kinde of death that Saturn in this case signifies, Mr. Lilly saith, page 646. is by drowning, shipwreck, mine of old building, poison. And Saturn being in Scorpio a poisonous sign, 'tis the more likely to be by poison. In pag. 647. he saith, Saturn in opposition of the Sun from fixed signs, many times denotes stoning to death, or suffocation by fire, or water, sometimes hanging, (that is if the person be honorable) death by a Gun, or great instrument, or hanging, or strangling, &c. But of all, I suppose the former, viz. poison, because it is so natural to Saturn, and to the sign he is in. And perhaps it may so fall out, that the native coming into danger to prevent a publick shame, may turn his own Executioner, and poison himself. But in this matter I leave Mr. Lilly to do what he will, I will promise him before-hand it shall never trouble me. And this shall serve for a general Judgement upon the Scheme of his Nativity.

I shall set the Figure of his next years Revolution, it being most probable to prove a prodigious year unto him, and the most remarkable that ever he had, yea far more notable than that in which he received a gold Chain from the King of Sweden. And I shall give a particular Judgement upon the same, with considering the directions and other things that con-comitate it, and so end my intended Task, and leave Mr. Lilly to shift for himself, and baffle if he can, his bad fate, as he hath done all he ever had to deal with.

Of his Revolution for the Year 1661. being the 59th year of his Age.

To finde the true Revolutionary Figure, I equate for the Suns true place, thus:

April	$\frac{29}{30}$	the Sun is	$\frac{19}{20}$ d. 24 m. 41 s.	Taurus
-------	-----------------	------------	--------------------------------	--------

Difference 00—57—43

The Suns place is	$\frac{20}{20}$ 05	00 Taurus.
Next greater is	$\frac{20}{20}$ 12	24 Taurus.

Difference 00 07 24

Then I work by the Rule of proportion, and say, if $57' 43''$ give 24 h. what shall $7' 24'$ give? Answer 3 h. 4 m. which subtracted from Noon the 30 of April, leaves the true time of the Revolution sought, April the 29 da. at 20 h. 50 m. P.M. Astronomically, or more vulgarly, April the 30 at 56 minutes past eight a Clock in the morning; for then the Sun comes to his Radical place, viz. $20^{\circ} 5'$ in Taurus.

The Figure of Heaven, is as followeth.

The

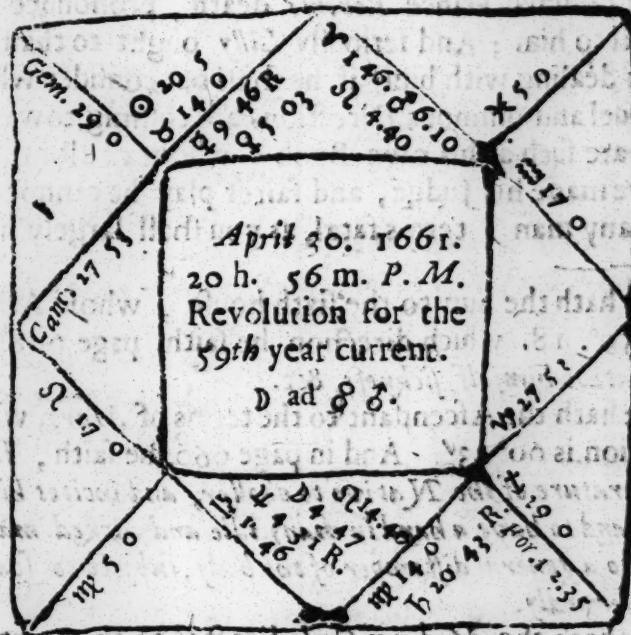

The Planets places are as followeth.

Long Planets.

H	29	43	R. m.
U	4	31	R. ≈
♂	6	13	γ
○	20	05	ο
♀	05	03	ο
♀	c9	46	R. ο
D	04	47	ω
λ	14	40	R. ≈

The right Asc. ○ — — —	47 37
Right A. Time — — —	313 30
Added, makes — — —	361 07
The Circle sub. — — —	360 00
Right Asc. M. C. — — —	001 07
Add the quadrant — — —	090 00
Ob. A. Horoscope — — —	91 07

The Figure it self follows.

A general Judgement of this Revolution.

IN this Revolution the sign of the sixth house of the Radix ascends, and the Moon Lady thereof, is in exact opposition of ♀ Lord of the eighth in the Radix. To the first, Mr Lilly saith, page 727. If the sign of the sixth ascends, in that year the Native may fear sicknesses, imbecility of body, or other very many casualties &c. but to the latter he says nothing. Howbeit, other Authors say, it is many times fatal to Life, and truly it is the more to be feared, because opposition happens from Angles, and Saturn in the return so near the opposition of the Sun, (who is Lux temporis) and exactly returned to his Radical place, and the Lord of the eighth wholly, in the Revolution. If Saturn be naturally an enemy to Life, and accidentally Anaretæ or Lord of Death, then must his influence be the more malignant and cruel. Sed verum prius, Ergo, &c. the 59th year of his age, (a year more dangerous by reason of Saturn's double return, than either 42. or 63.) we may upon better grounds than himself predicted Prince Roberts death, pronounce this year most fatal to him; And seriously Lilly ought to thank me for my plain dealing with him, if he shall but consider what a muster of cruel and ominous Directions are coming towards him; for they are such as his own Book (whom all along you may see I have made his Judge, and fairer play he cannot desire to have of any man) terms fatal, as you shall largely hear from thence—

1. He hath the Sun to the sixth house, whose Ark of direction is $59^{\circ} 18'$. which direction he saith, page 668. signifies to the Native himself sickness, &c.

2. He hath the Ascendant to the terms of Mars, whose Ark of direction is $60^{\circ} 23'$. And in page 660. he saith, It inclines the temperature of the Native to choleric, and incites him to rash actions, and to have a hand in many idle and wicked matters, all tending to a general distemper of the body, subject to scandal, and not undeservedly.

3. He hath the Medium Cæli directed to the quartile of Saturn, whose Ark of direction is $61^{\circ} 14'$. And Lilly saith p. 669. This direction discovers many laborious, difficult and unfortunate mischances unto the Native, deprives him of his Honor, Office, Magistracy, Employment, or Reputation, by means of shameless and vulgar persons, or of his dissembling Comorts, Country-blooms, Plumbabendmen, Colliers, Day laborers; who seem all to conspire and agree herein against him. And as this portends to vulgar vulgar persons, beggary, poverty, disgrace; so unto people, dis-credit, (surely he esteemt vulgar persons not worth the terming people) accusations, and treacherous informations, damage by thefts. These are Mr. Lillies own words.

4. He hath the Medium Cæli to the quartile of Venus by direction, which Ark of direction is $62^{\circ} 6'$. And he saith, page 673. This direction is ever full of scandal and ignominy, and detracts from the Native's fame and honor, by means of women, and stirs up strife, hatred, and contentions against him; the Native subject to be deluded by women, to woe many, and to be rejected by most, or all women, they putting tricks upon the Native, scorning and deriding him, who will be jealous of his Mistress upon every slight occasion: It shewes death many times to the mother or wife, and an unquiet and uncheerful life — with his wife, many times divorce, jealousies, and great discontents, sale, or loss of much estate, or many costly jewels. Now beware the Gold Chain!

5. He hath Pars fortuna directed to the quartile of Jupiter, whose Ark of direction is $61^{\circ} 42'$. He saith, page 704. Such a direction signifies — Loss of wealth by means of Gentlemen, or Law-suits, and vexations by such, and against such, much labor and difficulty to procure the preservation of his estate, loss of Office, or less increase thereby than formerly.

6. He hath the Medium Cæli also directed to the quartile of Sat, whose Ark of direction is $62^{\circ} 54'$. And he saith, page 672. That it renders the Native obnoxious to many discommodities, makes him odious to great men, to loose his offices, honor, or preferments upon a sudden, and changes and perverts all his former good fortunes, a Trades man cracks his credit, or turns Bankrupt, &c. For now he is in danger of being imprisoned, banished, and many times (if the Nativity threaten, as here it doth) he is sentenced to death by the judgement of his Prince, or some of his Officers.

These are the direc directions that are coming toward Mr. Lilly apace; some of which have partly seized on him already; and let Mr. Lilly tell me whether I have not dealt like a foolish ful friend by him, and as truly as Damboye, and the Kings Brother did by each other in the Tragedy. Here are no Sycophantique tow'ring strains, nor have we flattered Lilly in hopes of reward, as he hath done many to their ruine; Nor have we used any stick Heraldy, no clawing Epithetes, nor charms to cheat his understanding; we have not consulted Mother Shipton, the Sybills, or that crack-braind fellow Merlyn, &c. nor Dic nre, nor any such like cheats and knaveries; we have kept close to Astrology, and because we would not be adjudged partial, in that, to Lillies own book; a civility, that young Merlyn never merited from any Artist in the world.

(14)

But perhaps Lilly will say, when he sees this, that some of these directions come not yet a while, according to the measure of time allowed in a direction, I shall easily concede thereunto they do not; two of them especially. But nevertheless, if Lilly remembers what Sir Christopher Heydon says, Fol. 412. That events proper to men, may be both anticipated and continu'd before or beyond a direction, as other things shall occurre; the objection is cleerly invalidated, and Lillies dancing days neerer unto an end, then he is aware of.

Let Lilly or the best Astrologer of his acquaintance, tell me what they think of July 1661, when \textcircled{h} is stationary upon the opposite place of the \odot , and suddenly after meeting with the \odot by a quartile? And of δ his being stationary to Retrogradation upon the degree Ascending in the Revolution, in November following, a place that Mars so mischeivously hate; And presently meeting an opposition of Venus, (Lillies best friend) and this in $\textit{v}\textit{r}$ near the twelfth House of the Radix? Nor will the four Eclipses in that year, in the Angles of his Revolution speak better things unto him, that in September of the \odot especially; it happening so directly upon the place of the \textcircled{D} in the Revolution.

If Mr Lilly be unsatisfied in any thing herein written, let him publish his doubts, and I hereby promise him In verba Astrologi; in the word of an Artist, to dilucidate any thing to him that is therein contained. Or if he shall be captious or quarrelsom quarrelsome (which is somewhat probable he may) at me, for my serious pains in his Nativity taken, I shall then call back my civil offer . and will undertake to justify what is here performed, either by dispute, or which way that he shall think proper for to ingage, provided it may be for the honor of Astrology, unto which end alone I have published his Geniture.

F I N I S.

101. Item (cum est vides quod ista sententia dicitur) mollescere quod sicut illud habet. Et sicut sententia dicitur nisi amissus esset. sed inclusus. Et sicut sententia dicitur nisi amissus esset. sed
inclusus. Et sicut sententia dicitur nisi amissus esset. sed inclusus. Et sicut sententia dicitur nisi amissus esset. sed inclusus.

СИНЕ

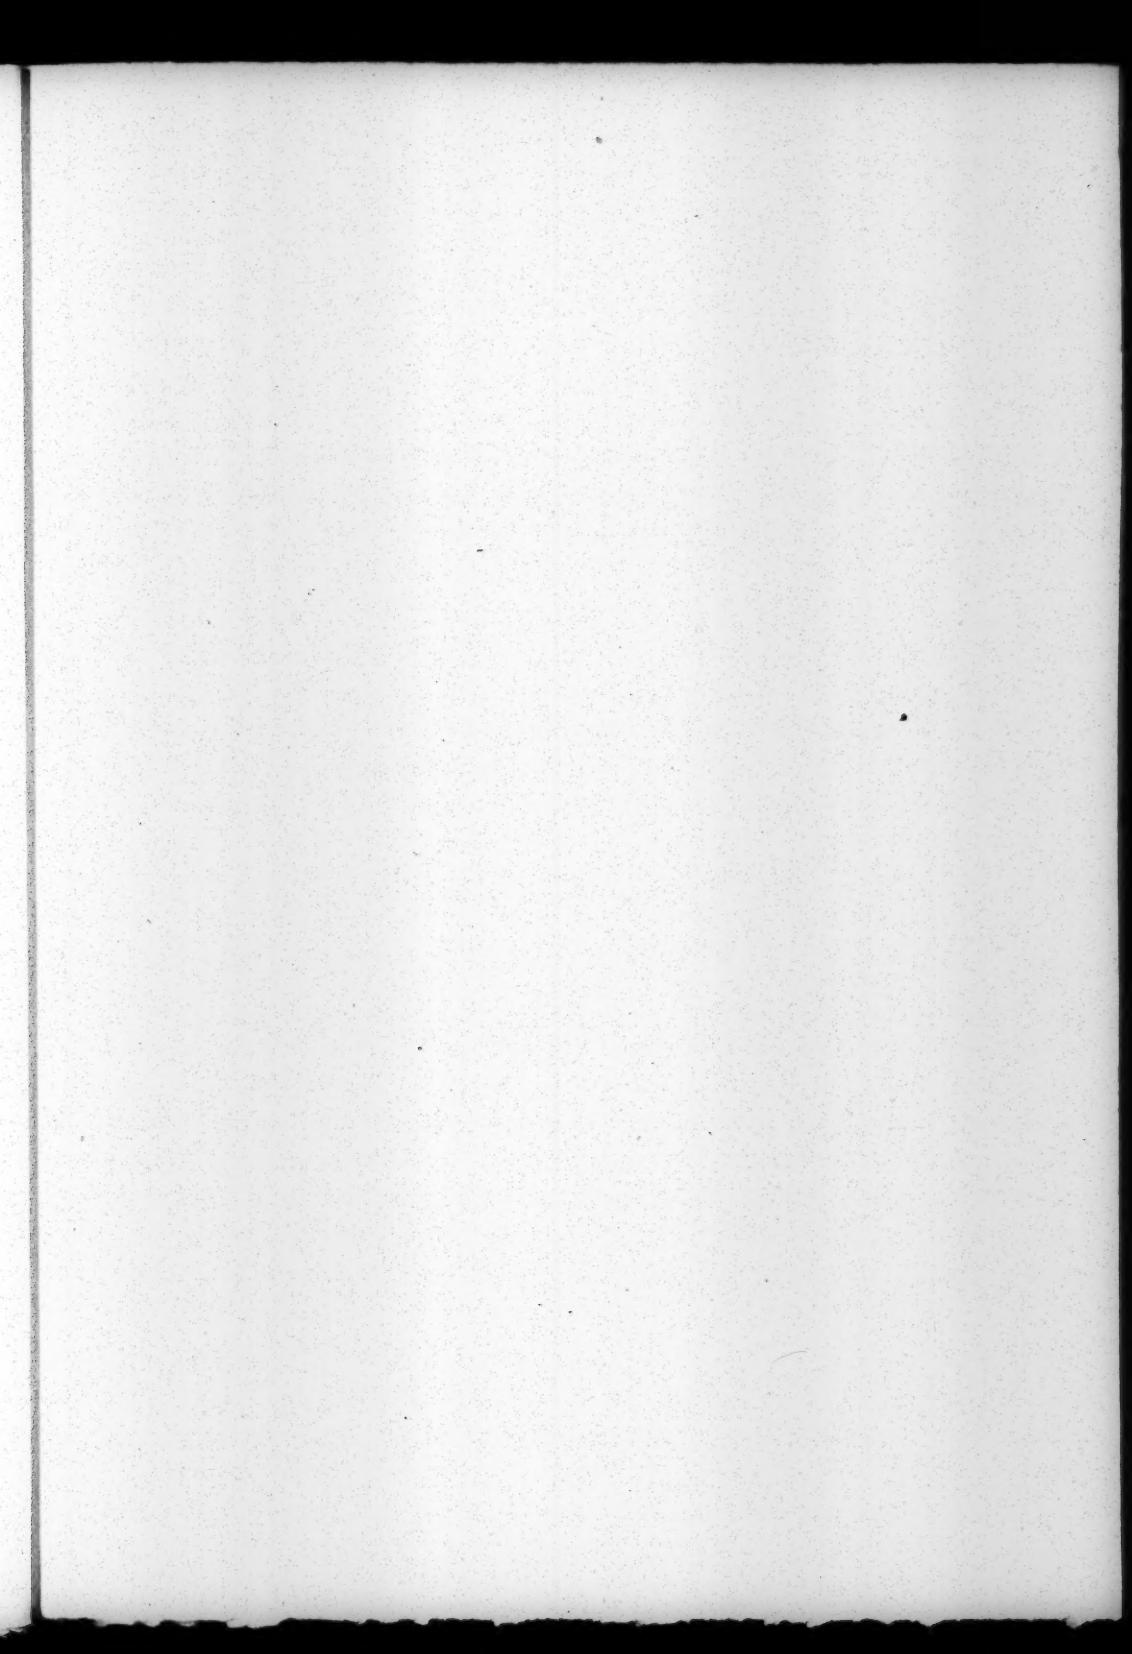

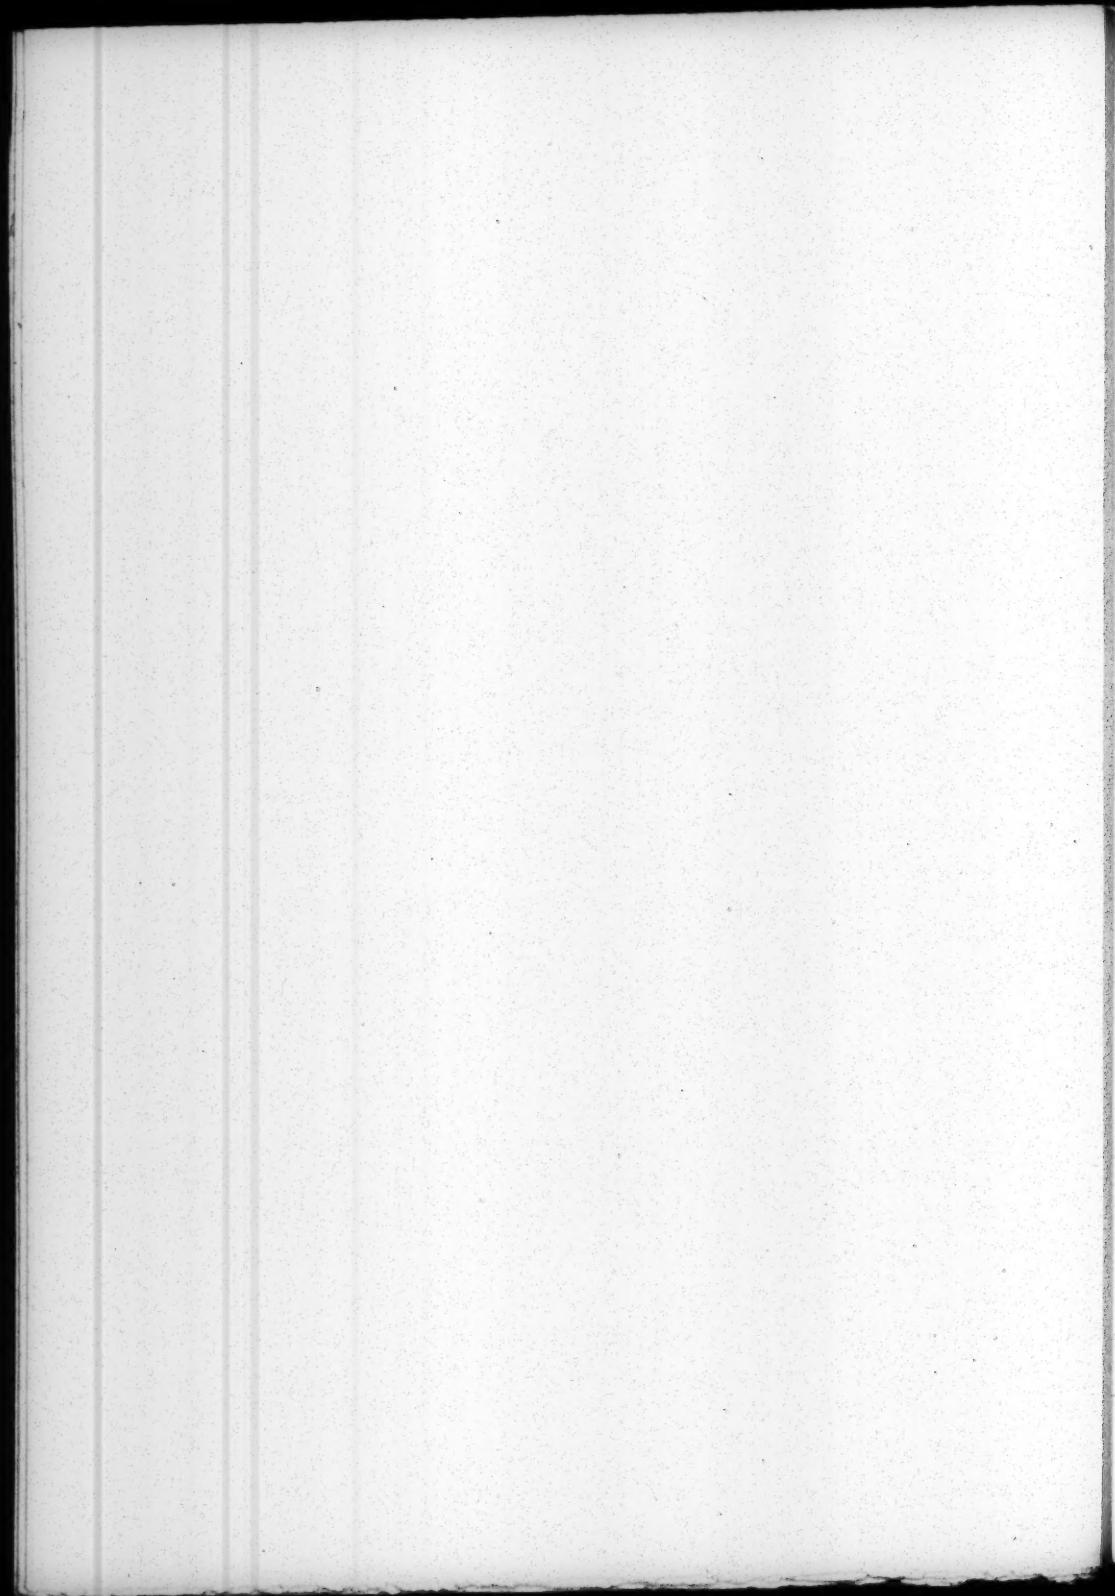

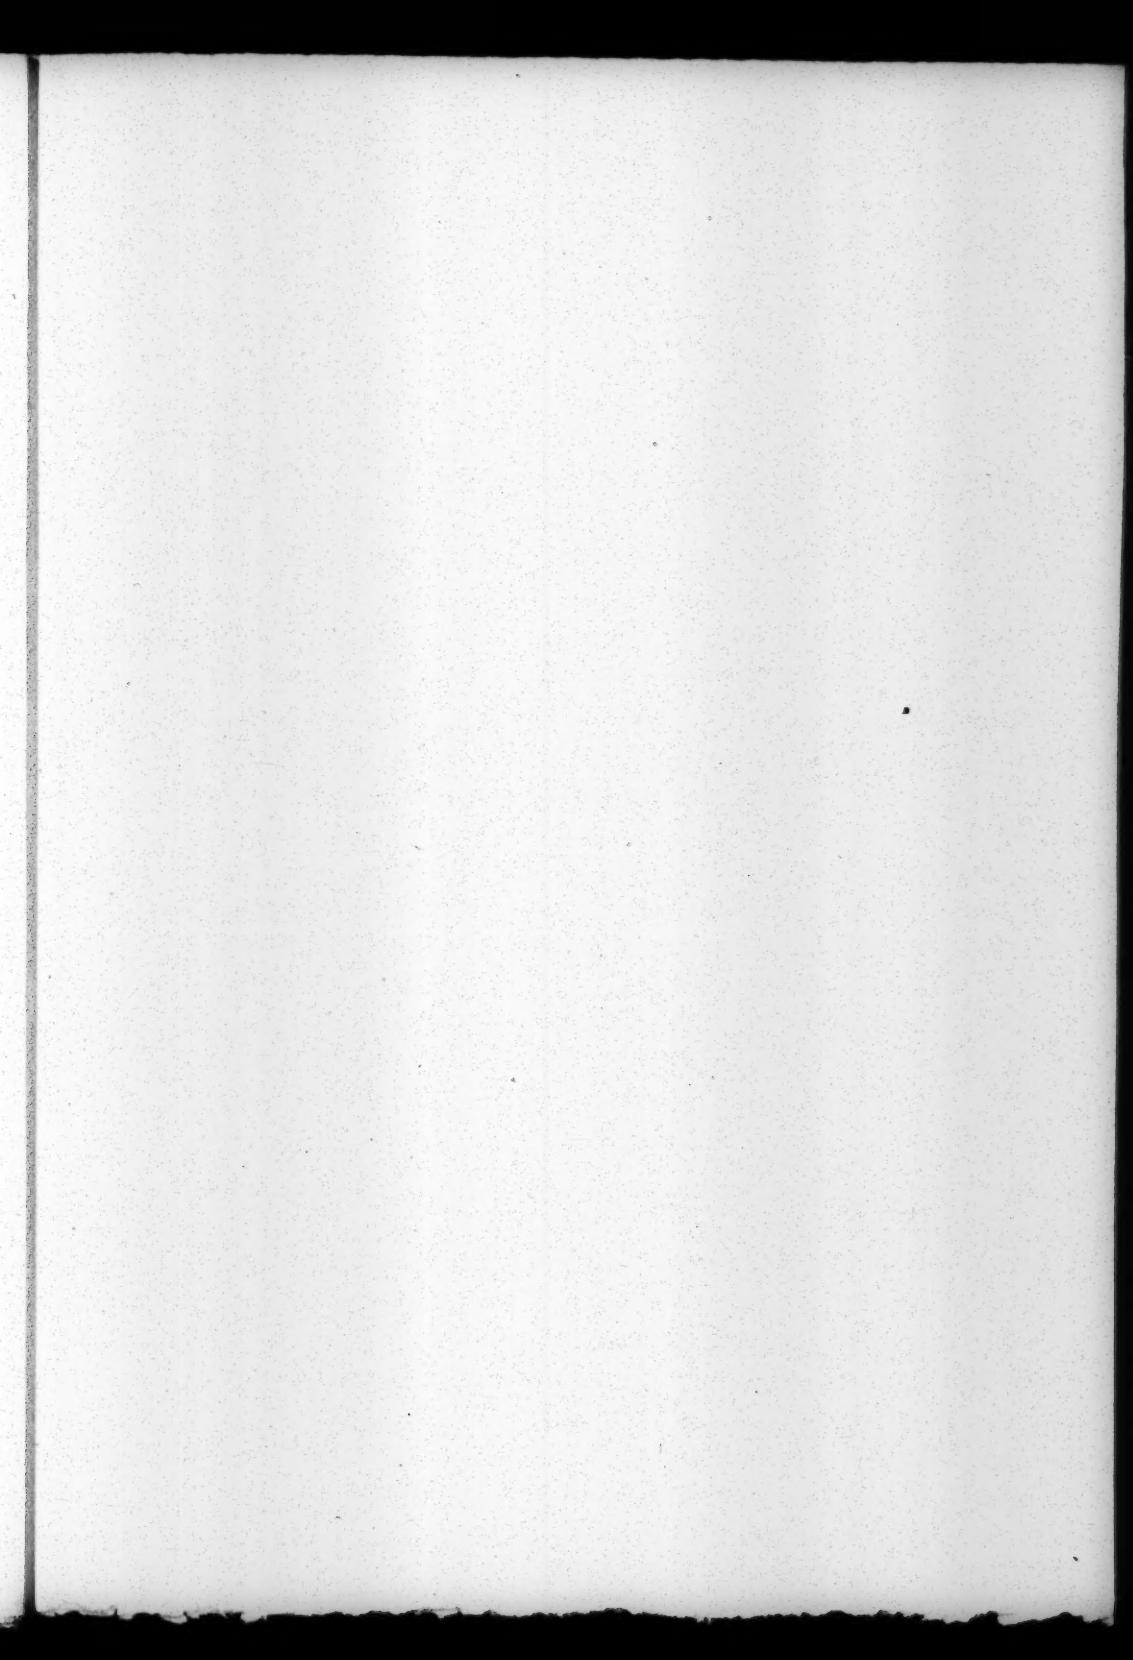

F-151998